JOB POSITIONS DESCRIPCION

This is a brief job description for each position in which I have participated as an Electronic and/or Sound Engineer throughout the years of work experience.

AUDIO ENGINEER FOH (FRONT OF HOUSE) AUDIO MONITORS ENGINEER

It's said that good sound can make a performance and bad sound can break it. Often, this comes down to the work of a live sound mix engineer: one of the primary professionals involved in controlling a band or performer's live sound.

Live sound mix engineers meet with the band before the show to perform sound check, where they coordinate with the band about sound-oriented goals and concerns and make initial adjustments to volume, balance, and EQ. In the midst of the performance, live sound mix engineers continue to make adjustments on the fly, using their phenomenal ears, knowledge of mixing consoles, and quick thinking to ensure that both performers and audience members hear what they need to.

There are two primary roles fulfilled by live mix engineers: FRONT OF HOUSE ENGINEER and monitor mix engineer. The FOH (front of house) engineer, who works at a mixing board located in the audience, controls the sound heard by the audience through the venue's main speakers. On the other hand, the AUDIO MONITORS ENGINEER, stationed at a soundboard on the side of the stage, ensures that the performers are able to hear proper mixes clearly through the floor or in-ear monitors. In other words: the FRONT OF HOUSE ENGINEER controls the audience's sound experience, while the AUDIO MONITORS ENGINEER supports the musicians directly in hearing one another, staying together, and giving their best performance. Both roles are essential for great live sound, but in clubs and smaller venues, they may be performed by a single engineer.

Professional Skills

- Mixing boards
- Basic acoustics
- Audio hardware
- Excellent ears (detail, nuance)
- Understanding of live sound systems
- Communication skills
- Equalize and Mix Live shows from Front of house Mixing Consoles.
- Digital Audio Mixing Consoles Setup.
- Stage Racks in/out patch setup.
- Splitters Patch setup
- DANTE networks

SYSTEM DESIGN ENGINEER

Although live sound mix engineers are highly lauded for their ability to control and improve the live music experience, even the best would be powerless without a live sound systems engineer. Part acoustician, part electrician, and all problem-solver, live sound systems engineers are leaders in touring sound crews, where they're responsible for designing rigging and power configurations for sound equipment, optimizing safety and efficiency in the setup, creatively solving acoustic problems, and overseeing load-in and breakdown.

More info about Job Position Description described in Page 4-6*

While live sound systems engineers have a wide range of discrete responsibilities, all of their job duties come back to a core goal: to create an effective, safe, balanced, and efficient sound system, in the process providing mix engineers with the tools they need to create excellent sound.

- Enacts the rigging design, which is based on the demands of the space and a desired sonic coverage.
- Once everything is rigged, the systems engineer works with electricians to ensure that power is distributed safely and efficiently to each piece of equipment.
- Then the systems engineer commences arguably the most important task: dealing with acoustic problems within the space.
- Alignment, Calibration and system optimization.
- Using sound-measuring software to get a sense of pressure levels throughout the space, systems engineers ensure that the audio system will be able to smoothly distribute high, mid, and low frequencies. They also determine and remove problematic resonant frequencies, address troublesome sound reflections (e.g. from a large TV screen hanging from the ceiling of an arena), and strategically position delayed loudspeakers.
- Once these tasks are completed, the sound systems engineer is on call for the duration of the show, solving any sound problems that arise. At the end of the show, the systems engineer oversees breakdown and storage of all the sound equipment.

AUDIO RECORDING ENGINEER

The Recording engineer uses a combination of technical expertise and musical mastery to capture (Recording) and manipulate sound in the studio. During the recording process, the scope of a recording engineer's creative involvement may vary widely, with some also acting as producer or mixing engineer and others strictly operating the sound board.

- Music recording (hardware and software)
- Record production
- Music editing
- Pro Tools
- MIDI
- Sound/mixing boards
- Broad knowledge of instruments (digital and analog)
- Basic acoustics
- Mics Positioning.

AUDIO ENGINEER ASSISTANCE

Assist to AUDIO ENGINEER FOH (FRONT OF HOUSE), AUDIO MONITORS ENGINEER, SYSTEM DESIGN ENGINEER or RF CORDINATION in all their task during a Show.

RF CORDINATION

Including duties such:

- As the RF coordinator, I must have the experience to choose and coordinate the frequencies used on site to ensure that your communications are optimal and the recordings are a clear success; Since most wireless audio and video devices operate within the same frequency bands, it is critical to organize the available spectrum to organize the frequencies in use and provide interference-free operation.
- Make a good planning to carry out a good management of wireless communications.
- Site survey to determine the correct frequency bands for your area and the best equipment to use at the event.
- Create a database to effectively organize and manage all aspects of spectrum sharing, including coordination with the facility and other providers.
- Perform a comprehensive analysis to ensure compliance with all FCC regulations; if necessary, acquire the necessary authorizations from the FCC.
- Check all wireless devices and verify that they are working on the correct frequency.
- Synchronize all wireless cameras, microphones, and communication and audio equipment on the network and make sure they are free from interference.
- Use spectrum analyzers and other monitoring devices to locate and eradicate sources of interference.
- Guarantee fluid navigation without interference on the day of the recordings.

BROADCASTING / DIGITAL / STREAMING ENGINEER

Broadcast engineers play an integral role in the radio and television and digital internet industries, where they're responsible for keeping scheduled broadcasts running, setting up live broadcasts in the field or studio, maintaining and updating broadcasting hardware and software, and addressing broadcasting problems as they arise.

Broadcast engineers also incorporate computer engineering skills in order to configure tools and software for broadcasting, or to manage live web broadcasts.

Troubleshooting major or minor problems when they arise, maintaining (or improving) the equipment, and preparing for outside broadcasts.

A broadcast engineer might be quite frequently engaged with setting up and improving links between outside broadcasts and studio ones.

On the other hand, a broadcast engineer for a music-oriented radio station might not have a lot to do when things are running smoothly, but likely sets up the occasional live concert broadcast and works furiously when the broadcast encounters problems.

Depending on their skills and the resources of their employers, broadcast engineers also sometimes pick up a bit of recording, mixing, or editing as part of their duties.

Professional Skills

- Electrical engineering
- Digital signal processing
- Broadcast systems
- Problem-solving skills and Good under pressure

JUAN LUIS GUERRA 4.40

JUAN LUIS GUERRA – ENTRE MAR Y PALMERAS TOUR 2022

Juan Luis Guerra is a Dominican musician, singer, composer, and record producer. He has sold 30 million records worldwide, making him one of the best-selling Latin music artists. Throughout his career, he has won numerous awards including 21 Latin Grammy Awards, two Grammy Awards, and two Latin Billboard Music Awards. Guerra won 3 Latin Grammy Awards in 2010, including Album of the Year. In 2012, he won the Latin Grammy Award for Producer of the Year.

Guerra is one of the most internationally recognized Latin artists of recent decades. His popular style of merengue and Latin fusion has garnered him considerable success throughout Latin America. He is also credited for popularizing bachata music on a global level and is often associated with the genre, although his distinct style of bachata features a more traditional bolero rhythm and aesthetic mixed with bossa-nova influenced melodies and harmony in some of his songs. He does not limit himself to one style of music; instead, he incorporates diverse rhythms like merengue, bachata-fusion, balada, salsa, rock and roll, and even gospel. "Ojalá Que Llueva Café" ("Let's hope it will rain coffee") is one of his most critically acclaimed pieces.

TV SHOWS EXPERIENCE

A TINY AUDIENCE (Season III)

A Tiny Audience, is a TV SHOW here musicians speak about their music and share intimate stories about how they created their most famous songs (and some less famous ones that are important to them) before performing them in front of fans, friends and family.

Tiny Audience gets up close and very personal. We ask each artist 3 questions and they perform 3 songs – their biggest hit, the song they care the most about and something they have always wanted to do (a cover, a duet, a never before performed acoustic version of a song) or even a song they are still working on. Unscripted, full of unfiltered emotions, interacting with 'a tiny audience' of fans.

The series was shot in Miami in a 5000 Sq. Ft. specially adapted soundstage, 12-cameras, in 4k/1080 with the best possible sound quality. The hosts of A Tiny Audience are musicians themselves and the interviews are in Spanglish, English and Spanish.

A Tiny Audience series airs on HBO MAX, HBO Latino and the HBO platforms in the US as well as, on DirecTV Latam, DirecTVGO and ONDirecTV in Mexico and Latin America and television channels around the world. For more information follow @atinyaudience on TW/IG/FB.

JOB POSITION: RF CORDINATION

Including duties such:

- As the RF coordinator, I must have the experience to choose and coordinate the frequencies used on site to ensure that your communications are optimal and the recordings are a clear success; Since most wireless audio and video devices operate within the same frequency bands, it is critical to organize the available spectrum to organize the frequencies in use and provide interference-free operation.
- Make a good planning to carry out a good management of wireless communications.
- Site survey to determine the correct frequency bands for your area and the best equipment to use at the event.
- Create a database to effectively organize and manage all aspects of spectrum sharing, including coordination with the facility and other providers.
- Perform a comprehensive analysis to ensure compliance with all FCC regulations; if necessary, acquire the necessary authorizations from the FCC.
- Check all wireless devices and verify that they are working on the correct frequency.
- Synchronize all wireless cameras, microphones, and communication and audio equipment on the network and make sure they are free from interference.
- Use spectrum analyzers and other monitoring devices to locate and eradicate sources of interference.
- Guarantee fluid navigation without interference on the day of the recordings.

Front of house engineer at Teatro Bar Valencia

A live concert venue that accommodated live bands and Broadway style theater plays. During this time I got to work with over one hundred bands of the Venezuelan music scene. As in House Lead Audio Technician I worked with international artists of great worldwide success, worthy of mention EL CUARTETO DE NOS, WILLY GONZALEZ (GONDWANA), JARABE DE PALO, AMIGOS INVISIBLES, DESORDEN PÚBLICO, SERVANDO Y FLORENTINO GIRA "LOS MISMOS", LOS MENTAS, VINILOVERSUS, LA VIDA BOHEME, LOS MESONEROS, CANSEBERO, APACHE, CIRCO VULKANO, among these years many local bands and some of them with national and international recognition.

In theater I mixed the audio of plays in which many national and international successful artists participate. Artists like MONCHO MARTINEZ (VENEVISION - Venezuela's main TV station), FEDRA LÓPEZ (VENEVISION), NELLY PUJOL (VENEVISION), CÉSAR MUÑOZ and many more.

Valencia – Venezuela. 2012-2013

Lead Front Of House Engineer in “Ciclo Noches de Guataca”

“Ciclo Noches de Guataca” is a series of popular folk music concerts that started in Caracas, Venezuela and then spread to Panama (Panama City), Spain (Barcelona), USA (Miami, New York, San Francisco) and in Venezuelan cities Margarita and Valencia. Valencia is the city in which I was the Front of House Engineer for the series. During this period I worked for many artists and bands like Edward Ramírez (c4trio - Grammy Winner), Compasses, Aquiles Báez, Ensemble Cuatreto, Laura Guevara, Marianne Mali, Alfredo Naranjo and El Guajeo, Jorge glem among many other bands with international reach.
